HE HAS AN ISSUE.

Cyclone Davis has announced as a candidate for re-election as congressman at large from Texas. He comes back before the people with an issue, and it is said of Cyclone that he is never happy, unless he has an issue. His present issue is the all-round "ruction" he has raised during the present session of congress, and he proposes to defend this "ruction" before the people. Relative to Cyclone and his issue the Waco Times-Herald says:

"Cyclone Davis is happy. He was mightily pestered lest he should have to come back to us without an issue. Cyclone is a zephyr without an issue. He contracted the habit when he went up and down in the land insisting that the government should issue all the money the people required—just print it regardless. He makes an issue out of Wall Street before breakfast every morning. But he was fearful that the old issues might be a bit shopworn. So Cyclone cast about for a new issue and he has it. His righteous soul is indignant at human slavery, and he has made a fling at the Old South for offending in this particular, aspersing the memories of Jefferson Davis, William L. Yancey and others. It was an ungracious thing to do, to say the least, but it gives Cyclone the coveted issue. 'Mr. Davis has indicated,' says a Washington dispatch, 'that he will make the incident an issue in his campaign for re-election.' Just what turn he will give it remains to be seen. But he is happy. He has an issue right off the press."

All taxation falls at last on the man who toils. That's why so many men in this country find it so very difficult to provide a good living for their families.—Waco Times-Herald.

When Jones gets through paying the freight there is not much left for house rent, land rent, clothing, shoes, hats, groceries, doctor's bills, wagons, teams, plows and other little bric-a-brac needed by the average family. But that's not all. Before Jones gets through with it, the thing is so arranged that he must pay for the gasoline, the pate de foie gras, the caviar and the eu de cologne of the sons of Mary.

The Galveston News' interpretation of the action of the State Democratic Executive Committee in ordering a second primary for senatorial candidates, is that the expense of this second primary must be provided for in the first assessment against state and county candidates. In other words, state candidates and county candidates must be taxed in a sum sufficient to hold the July 22 primary, and then this second or senatorial primary. Where the authority comes from for the assessment, or to make the candidates pay it, has never been stated.

The Eagle respectfully calls attention to the fact that its forthcoming Easter Number will be a creditable advertisement for Bryan and her business interests; it will positively result in beneficial returns to every business concern here, favorably note the town and trade territory and otherwise result in general good. As an interested party in Bryan's welfare, it is taken for granted the reader of this, if he be a business man, will become a patron of the Easter Number to some appreciable extent, thus aiding in the movement to exploit this community.

From the number of bidders figuring on our good roads, we ought to get some minimum prices. Our engineers will see to it that we get roads of the highest possible class.

Sweet potatoes and peanuts will help largely in making up for the losses by the recent freeze, for all who will intelligently turn their attention to them.

No better investment could be made than in a small acreage for a home out on the interurban. The interurban eliminates distance, puts you right in town and gives you the advantage of our splendid educational system.

tion of his breeding cows and used only high-grade bulls. The other made no effort to improve his herd. The owner of the high-grade stock received $40 per head more for his steers than the owner of the common stock. On some of the national forest ranges the stockmen club together, it is reported, and buy high-grade bulls which are owned as community property.—Waco Times-Herald.

MOTION DOCKET HEARD.

Business of the District Court About Wound Up.

Motions for new trials were made in the following cases in the district court, but after argument all were overruled by Judge Scott:

J. L. Fountain, guardian, vs. the American Bonding Company, suit on bond; verdict in favor of plaintiff.

August Kropf vs. the Bryan & College Interurban, suit for back salary; verdict in favor of plaintiff.

Mitchell Bros. vs. Gliners' Mutual Insurance Underwriters' Association of Texas, suit for damages; verdict in favor of plaintiff.

The following gentlemen were appointed as jury commissioners by Judge Scott to select the juries for the September term of the court: W. E. Graham, T. A. Hensarling and W. J. Coulter.

All business of the court is being concluded and the court will be adjourned within the next day or two.

LICE ON STOCK.

Lice injure calves, hogs, horses and cattle. One or two applications of Ross' "Dead Quick" Spray will positively rid stock of lice. It kills the nits and eggs of lice and insects. Once tried, you will never be without it. Sold in Bryan by E. J. Jenkins.

The Law of Habeas Corpus.

The enactment of the law of habeas corpus marks an important epoch in the progress of civil liberty in England and is regarded as one of the great achievements of Charles II's reign. Charles himself did not want the law, but just at the time he was very anxious to curry favor with the people and was afraid to oppose so popular a measure. The friends and foes of the act were pretty evenly divided in parliament, but in the final vote it was carried. The manner of its passage, however, was both comical and illegal. While the voting was going on a very fat lord arose and asked that his vote be recorded in the affirmative. In a spirit of fun the clerk announced ten votes for him to accord with his great size. They were so recorded, and for some unexplained reason the "error" was never corrected. The strangest part of it is the majority for the measure was less than ten; hence it would have failed of passage without the fat lord's extra votes.—Argonaut.

Titles of Victor Emmanuel.
The author of "Rejected Addresses" preserved the name of a certain Mr. Pole, as the longest imaginable, in the well known lines:

None every man possessed of ought to give.
Long may Long Wellesley Tynley Long Pole live.

but Mr. Pole's name was as nothing to the titles of the king of Italy, many of which are derived from the older kingdom of Sardinia. Where his titles end it might be difficult to say, but they begin, king of Italy, Sardinia, France, Spain, England, Jerusalem, Greece, Alexandria and Hamburg, ruler of the midway sea, master of the deep and king of the earth.—Christian Science Monitor.

The Word Bible.

The word Bible is derived from the Latin name Biblia, which was treated as a singular, although it comes from the Greek neuter plural meaning "little books." This Greek diminutive was derived from byblus, or papyrus, the famous material on which ancient books were written. The title "Bible" was first used about the middle of the second Christian century in the so called second epistle of Clement, xiv, 2.

The Word "Bridal."
Bridal, as meaning a feast to celebrate a wedding, is really "bride ale," "ale" being the terms formerly used to indicate the festival in England.

Under the old Democratic doctrine of majority rule, it looks like the nominee for United States senator should get the nomination by a majority vote of the Democrats of the whole state. And yet if this principle is correct, the question is permissible, why not let the same rule apply to the governor's office, congressmen and all other state county and precinct offices? If the majority rule is Democratic in one place, it is Democratic all the way through.

A great and good leader has been secured for the revival. The thing most needed now is for the church members to get in line, and things will begin to happen.

REMARKABLE CLOCK.

John M. Caldwell has on exhibition in his display window a most remarkable curio in the way of a clock. It is the property of a student of the A. and M. College and is offered for sale.

The clock was built by an old settler of Brazoria County named Elgin, who immigrated to this country some twenty years ago from Bohemia and settled on a little farm in the Brazos bottoms. Mr. Elgin, who is a bachelor of about 55 years of age, living by himself, and for the last ten years has amused himself in his spare hours by designing this clock and carving the parts, picking up the pieces of material whenever and wherever he could find them. Mr. Elgin's reminiscences of his Catholic fatherland are shown in the design of the clock, which represents a monastery into which six monks enter for prayer every hour.

There are a number of other interesting features connected with the clock not enumerated in the above description, but which can be demonstrated by Mr. Caldwell. This curio is really worth a trip to the store to see.

HIGH GRADE STOCK PAYS.

That it pays to raise good stock is illustrated by the experience of two Utah ranchmen who sent their steers to the same market on the same day, according to a bulletin issued by the forest service of the federal department of agriculture. Both ran their stock on national forest range under grazing permits, both used the same amount of range per head of stock, and both paid the same grazing fee. One gave close attention to the selec-
